Excerpt: .a coin for ballast to the bottom of the egg with sealing-wax. THE DEWEY ARCH The Dewey arch may be made by taking the cover of a deep, stout pasteboard box and cutting out a piece in the centre to form the arch. Then with tacks firmly fasten the cover in upright position to a piece of board. Previous to doing this have ready a lot of ends of egg shells and attach these with sealing-wax to the cover, as shown in the illustration. When the face of the arch is completed fasten on top a small pasteboard box, and to this fasten egg shells. Upon the corners of the arch place two upright eggshells. Upon the top of the small box place half an egg shell, and upon the top of this again fasten a light flagpole with flag. For the lamps take...
