Not illustrated. 1846 Excerpt: .where your own fair Princess may have something to say to you; and he pointed with his hand to the door which has been mentioned. Algernon Grey bowed and walked on, followed by Lovet, who whispered, ere they reached the reception-room of the Princess, You hear! she is queening it already. Mind that you give her, the Majesty. The next moment they had the whole scene of Elizabeth's saloon before them; and, although it would seem that there had been a certain degree of preparation, to produce a greater effect, yet assuredly there was enough to move even cold hearts to enthusiasm. There sat the young Princess of England, still in the first freshness of early life, without one charm impaired, one grace lost. Her eyes were lighted up with the fire of enterprise and courage--her lip smiling with warm hopes--her whole form breathing energy and courage. Even in the hand, which--stretched forth on the small table before her--grasped a roll of papers, might be seen the firm, unconquerable, yet mild, spirit within. Around and behind her stood a number of the ladies of her court, --all beautiful, all radiant with the same enthusiastic light which beamed in their sovereign s face. Scattered through the room, with one or two a little advanced, and one close to the table at which the Electress sat, were all the first men of the Palatinate, young and old: some with white hair, and faces scarred and seamed; some...
